Request for Publication

1. Researchers wishing to publish, exhibit, or redistribute (hereafter “publish” or “publication”) materials from collections in the Queens College Special Collections and Archives (hereinafter QC) for which the QC owns the property rights and/or copyright must have the written approval of the QC to do so. All usage of reproduced, copied, or quoted material must credit:

- The specific collection
- Queens College Special Collections and Archives
- The photographer (if applicable) or record creator (if applicable)

2. All requests to publish must be submitted in writing. Requests to publish should include:

- Information about the forthcoming publication (including format [for example, print, microform media, or electronic], title, expected date of publication, name of author)
- Name of publisher
- Clear information about the item(s) to be published (name of author or creator, name of collection, date of creation, page or item numbers, where available)

3. In addition, it is the responsibility of the user to obtain permission to publish from the owner of the copyright (the institution, the creator of the record, the author or his/her transferees, heirs, legatees, or executors). The QC reserves the right to extend or withhold permission for publication of its intellectual property when copyright for the selected images has been retained by the QC. In many cases, the QC can give permission only as holders of physical objects. When copyright is not retained by the QC, it will refer users requesting permissions for publication to potential copyright owners whenever possible. The owner of the copyright may charge fees in addition to those charged by the QC.

4. Permission to publish materials from the collections of the Queens College Special Collections and Archives, when approved, is granted for one-time, nonexclusive use to publish a single edition in a single format or to display a reproduction for a limited time in a specified location. The person making the request (publisher, editor, or author) shall furnish the QC, without charge, one copy of the publication (book, article, periodical, or TV production, etc.) in which the copied material appears. The applicant agrees to assume full responsibility and any attendant liability for complying with U.S. copyright laws and other rights of third parties, and agrees to hold QC harmless from and against all damages and claims.
