INVITES YOU TO

The Literature and Human Rights Lecture Series

The Mayor of Mogadishu

ANDREW HARDING

Tuesday, December 6, 2016 | 12:15–1:30 pm (free hour)
Rosenthal Library, President's Conference Room #2 (5th floor)

This is the sixth lecture in a series devoted to the relevance of the study of the humanities for the promotion of human rights in the academy, the community, and the government, both locally and globally.

Andrew Harding has been living and working abroad as a foreign correspondent for the past 25 years, in Russia, the Caucasus, Asia, and Africa. He has been visiting Somalia since 2000. His television and radio reports for BBC News have won him international recognition, including an Emmy in 2014 for his reporting from the Central African Republic, a share of a 2004 Peabody Award for the BBC's coverage of Darfur, and awards from Britain, France, Monte Carlo, and Hong Kong. He currently lives in Johannesburg with his family. The Mayor of Mogadishu is his first book.
