Queens College/CUNY German language courses are now zero-textbook cost
Starting this semester, our Elementary and Intermediate German courses are going zero-textbook course. The new online learning platform (der/die/das) we are introducing was developed at Princeton University and is in use there and at other institutions around the country. It has been tailored for the QC student. The German Program and this new online textbook were recently highlighted in QView #92:
