Q1. Any prerequisite to assign for this volunteer opportunity?
Anyone who is willing to work in the Garden is welcome.

Q2. Is the starting date mandatory?
The start date is flexible.

Q3. How many times a week do volunteers come in?
The days and hours are flexible. These are early morning or late day hours. The shifts will be 2 - 3 hours in length and weather dependent and students can discuss their own time with Prof. Helfand.

Q4. How many days/hours do we need to come in to volunteer and apply to fieldwork hours?
For Food Management Studies students, to fulfill the requirement for FNES 3712, 90 volunteer hours are needed.

For Nutrition and Dietetics students, to fulfill the requirement for FNES 3721, 45 volunteer hours are needed.

Q5. Would this be available on the Weekends also, or just weekdays?
But discuss your weekend availability with Prof. Helfand

Q6. Where and when do we meet up?
You will meet in the FNES garden area behind Remsen Hall.

Q7. Do we need to bring anything when we come?
No need to bring anything but a face mask is required. We recommend that you dress cool, wear sunscreen and a hat

Q7. Can volunteer time be converted into the service hours we need for the Dietetic program?
You should check with Prof. Miner.
