Lab name: Exercise and Aging Lab

Research Interests: To improve physical function, body composition, and quality of life in older adults, especially through exercise.

Lab Description: The major goal of the lab is to improve the health and wellness of older adults. Specifically, the lab is focused on improving physical function and body composition in older adults, especially through exercise interventions.