What is film? When are emotional responses to film appropriate? This course will focus on stories in film and how the stories we tell ourselves (about ourselves) influence how we relate to characters. This involves a discussion of morality as well as representation.