

RUSSIAN PROGRAM

Department of European Languages and Literatures

SPRING 2027 COURSES

Russian 111 M, W	10:05-11:55 (Section 1) In person	Kulimova
Russian 111 T, Th	10:05-11:55 (Section 2) Online synchronous	Permitina
Russian 112 T, Th	10:05-11:55 Online synchronous	Sabitova
Russian 155	Online asynchronous	Cheloukhina
Russian 155W T, Th	3:10-4:25 In person	Permitina
Russian 235	Online asynchronous	Cheloukhina
Russian 245	Online asynchronous	Cheloukhina

Russian Language Courses

IMPORTANT: Heritage speakers of Russian are advised to consult with the Russian Undergraduate Coordinator Prof. Svetlana Cheloukhina (svetlana.cheloukhina@qc.cuny.edu) for correct placement before enrolling in any of the following language courses:

RUSS 111 Elementary Russian I (Section 1). 4 hr.; 4 cr. M, W, 10:05-11:55. In person. Class number 21490. Kulimova. QH 322. Prerequisite for RUSS 112. This introductory course in the Russian language is based on the communicative approach and lively in-class interaction. We will use one of the best contemporary textbooks and supplementary materials. The course goals are to master a basic vocabulary, to learn correct pronunciation, the basics of grammar, and cursive writing, and to develop the ability to follow spoken Russian in simple social situations. Class work will include four hours per week of practical work with theoretical explanations, various written assignments, a mid-term and a final examination. THIS COURSE IS FOR ZERO-BEGINNERS ONLY. PATHWAYS credit for the Queens College language requirement. Pre-requisite for RUSS 112.

RUSS 111 Elementary Russian I (Section 2). 4 hr.; 4 cr. T, Th, 10:05-11:55. Online synchronous. Class number 22316. Permitina. See the course description above. THIS COURSE IS FOR ZERO-BEGINNERS ONLY. PATHWAYS credit for the Queens College language requirement. Pre-requisite for RUSS 112.

RUSS 112. Elementary Russian II, 4 hr.; 4 cr. T, Th. T, Th, 10:05-11:55. Online synchronous. Class number 22349. Sabitova. Prereq.: RUSS 111 or permission of the department. A continuation of RUSS 111. FOR STUDENTS WHO TOOK RUSS 111 ELEMENTARY RUSSIAN I and HERITAGE SPEAKERS OF THIS LANGUAGE LEVEL (contact Prof. Svetlana Cheloukhina svetlana.cheloukhina@qc.cuny.edu for correct placement). PATHWAYS credit for the Queens College language requirement. This course will also count towards the requirements for the major or minor in Russian. Pre-requisite for RUSS 200-level LANGUAGE COURSES.

Russian Literature Courses in ENGLISH

RUSS 155. Keys to Russian Literature. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Online asynchronous. Class number 22315. Cheloukhina. This course studies key works by famous Russian writers (in translation) from the beginnings of Russian literary tradition until the 21st century. Among the writers whose works will be studied are Pushkin, Gogol, Turgenev, Leskov, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Mayakovsky, Bugakov, Pasternak, Akhmatova, Sholokhov, Bunin, and others. The course goal is to familiarize students with the works of these authors and to analyze them from the literary, socio-political, and historical perspectives. Lectures, readings, assignments and examinations will be in English. PATHWAYS credit for Queens College literature requirement. This course will also count towards the requirements for the major or minor in Russian. No textbook cost.

RUSS 155 W. Keys to Russian Literature. 3 hr.; 3 cr. T-Th, 3:10-4:25 PM. In person. Class number 21351. Permitina. QC 320. This is a writing intensive course. See the description above. PATHWAYS credit for Queens College literature and writing intensive requirements. This course will also count towards the requirements for the major or minor in Russian. No textbook cost.

RUSS 235. Survey of Russian Literature: The Twentieth Century. Class number 22314. Online asynchronous. Cheloukhina. This course will study the development of Russian literature from the end of the tsarist monarchy through socialist realism and perestroika to the present post-modernist writings. The prosaic, poetic and literary critical works of the prominent Russian poets and writers, not included in other courses, such as A. Blok, A. Bely, A. Akhmatova, O. Mandelstam, I. Bunin, M. Zoshchenko, B. Pasternak, M. Bulgakov, and others will be read from both theoretical and practical angles. Their literary, aesthetic, social, historic, and psychological values will be reviewed and discussed in detail to allow students to comprehend in full the events and personalities described in these works. Lectures, readings, assignments and examinations will be in English. This course will count towards the requirements for the major and the minor in Russian. Low textbook cost.

RUSS 245 Russian Short Story. 3 hr.; 3 cr. Online asynchronous. Class number 21997. Cheloukhina This course will study the masterpieces of short prose by the famous Russian 19th-20th-centuries authors, including A. Pushkin, M. Lermontov, F. Dostoevsky, I. Goncharov, L. Tolstoy, A. Chekhov, A. Kuprin, N. Teffi, V. Nabokov, S. Dovlatov, V. Pelevin, L. Petrushevskaya, and other writers. It will familiarize students with a broad range of short prosaic writings and literary critical materials and relate them to other literary or artistic works of the two centuries. The short stories will be studied within the historical, socio-political and cultural contexts. Lectures, readings, assignments and examinations will be in English. PATHWAYS credit for Queens College literature. This course will also count towards the requirements for the major and the minor in Russian. Low textbook cost.