QUEENS COLLEGE

A MESSAGE FROM
President Frank H. Wu

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL THE OUTSTANDING STUDENTS BEING RECOGNIZED TONIGHT.

Your hard work and dedication to your studies paid off. Tonight you will be acknowledged for your success, whether it's with Latin honors, departmental prizes, or awards from Queens College and the City University of New York.

You represent the best and the brightest of our students at Queens College. Given the well-rounded liberal arts education you received here at Queens and the determination you have shown during your time as a student, you are primed to achieve great things in your career and in your life. I wish you the best in the next stage of your life, whether you move on to an internship, job, or graduate or professional school. I have no doubt you will be successful in whatever path you choose.

All of you here tonight overcame the obstacles to your education that the COVID-19 pandemic presented. You all were forced to adapt your way of learning on the fly. I know it wasn't easy. However, you are all graduating with distinction despite the disruption to your studies over the past two years.

Thankfully, life is slowly returning to normal, and I am grateful to have my first opportunity to honor you at our Baccalaureate ceremony in person. I have worked at many colleges and universities during my career, and this is always my favorite time of the year, no matter where I have been. I love the opportunity to see our wonderful students celebrated for their achievements. And it's so much more rewarding this year because we are able to be together in our beautiful Colden Auditorium. I can finally share this momentous occasion with you in the flesh instead of seeing you from a computer screen.

The entire college community celebrates your achievement as well. On behalf of all the faculty and staff at Queens College, I congratulate you and wish you continued success.

FRANK H. WU

QUEENS COLLEGE PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

Christopher Rosa '89

A CHAMPION FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES, you have dedicated your career to helping CUNY's disabled students overcome challenges to further their education and their careers. Diagnosed with Limb-Girdle Muscular Dystrophy, you did not let your own disability stop you from achieving your dreams, and you went to help so many disabled students achieve theirs.

You graduated from Queens College with a Bachelor of Arts in sociology and philosophy in 1989 and earned your PhD in sociology from the CUNY Graduate Center in 2001. You went on to serve CUNY as an administrator for more than 30 years in various roles, most recently as interim vice chancellor for student affairs. Previously you were the university's assistant dean for student affairs for eight years. Prior to that, you were CUNY's director of student affairs, where you were responsible for administrative leadership of key student service areas, including student activities, mental health and wellness services, international student and scholars' services, veterans' services, child care, women's centers, and career services. Before working at the central office, you spent 11 years at your alma mater, Queens College, serving as director of services for students with disabilities and director of the college's Student Support Services Program, which followed time you spent as QC's 504/American with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliance officer, affirmative action officer, and student disciplinary officer.

You created the CUNY LEADS program, a model career readiness program for college students with disabilities that empowers them to achieve competitive employment at more than twice the national rate. You established CUNY as a leading destination for neurodiverse students through the creation of CUNY Project REACH, for students on the autism spectrum, and CUNY Unlimited, an inclusive higher education program for students with intellectual disabilities.

Currently, you are the president and CEO of the Viscardi Center, a network of non-profit organizations that provides services that educate, employ, and empower people with disabilities. You also serve in national leadership roles for organizations that promote access and wellness for Americans with disabilities, including chair of the executive committee for the U.S. President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, and presently as the vice chair of the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Board of Directors.

In recognition of your lifelong work dedicated to the advancement of people with disabilities, we are pleased to present you with the Queens College President's Medal.
