QUEENS COLLEGE

A MESSAGE FROM
President Frank H. Wu

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE OUTSTANDING STUDENTS OF THE CLASS OF 2022! While Commencement happens every school year, this year's Commencement is truly special. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, for the first time in two years, we will honor our graduates with an in-person ceremony on our campus.

This will also be my first opportunity as Queens College president to celebrate with you. I arrived at Queens College in 2020 during the height of the pandemic, and our last two ceremonies were virtual. It's been a long wait, but that has made today even more profound and rewarding. I am excited to see you walk through our beautiful Quad as Pomp and Circumstance plays. I look forward to shaking your hands and seeing your smiles. And I can't wait to see you move your tassels from right to left as your degrees are conferred.

I am incredibly grateful that you are able to finish your college career on a triumphant note, getting to enjoy your final semester back on our wonderful campus and to be here today with your friends and family who have supported you along the way. I hope the struggles you have endured the past few years, both in your collegiate and personal life, make this moment even sweeter today. You deserve it.

While Commencement is typically associated with the end of the school year, the definition of the word commencement actually means "the beginning," and the 2021–2022 school year certainly was a year of beginnings. Over the past school year, we established a new normal. We emerged from the COVID-19 pandemic and returned to in-person classes—albeit not the way we used to before. We limited class sizes and combined online learning to help keep our students safe and to provide flexibility for our busy students who often balance multiple responsibilities. Our way of living and learning has changed dramatically since you first enrolled at Queens College.

Today also marks the beginning of a new chapter in your lives. While for most of you, this is the end of your time at Queens College, a new era awaits you that is full of excitement and potential. Thanks to the well-rounded liberal arts education you received at Queens College, I know you will be ready to achieve greatness in whatever path you choose as you live out the motto of Queens College: "We learn so that we may serve." The wealth of experience and depth of knowledge you received during your time at Queens College has prepared you for this "brave new world."

I am exceptionally proud of each and every one of you. I wish you well in your future endeavors, and I hope to see you back at Queens College soon, whether it's to continue your studies or at an alumni event or homecoming. Thank you, and congratulations once again to the Class of 2022!

Danny Burstein '86

Doctor of Fine Arts, Honoris Causa

A TALENTED ACTOR AND SINGER, you have wowed many with your brilliant performances in theater, film, and television, and you have served as an inspiration to many throughout your long and illustrious career.

You received your Bachelor of Arts degree from Queens College in 1986 and earned a Master of Fine Arts degree from the graduate acting program at the University of California, San Diego in 1990. You were studying at Queens College when you earned your first professional acting job in the chorus of The Music Man in St. Louis.

You have made 18 appearances on Broadway, which have earned you seven Tony award nominations. Your Tony-nominated performances include The Drowsy Chaperone (2006), South Pacific (2008), Follies (2011), Golden Boy (2013), Cabaret (2014), Fiddler on the Roof (2016) and Moulin Rouge. In 2021, you broke through with your first Tony Award for your incredible performance in Moulin Rouge. You also have won two Drama Desk Awards, four Outer Critics Circle Awards, and received three Grammy nominations.

You have appeared in multiple television series, including the BBC sitcom Absolutely Fabulous (2002), the first season of Louie (2010), Boardwalk Empire (2010–2011) and in six episodes of Law and Order (1995–2015). You made several appearances in film, including Blackhat (2015), Transamerica (2005), and Deception (2008).

You are a frequent guest lecturer at schools and universities in the Northeast corridor, including the Juilliard School, Yale University, New York University, and Queens College. You have been a tireless voice for the importance of the arts to society and to individuals. Reflecting on why Broadway is needed after the long lockdown, you said “theater isn’t just a form of entertainment; at its best, it is a collective, spiritual experience. It is church for the heart and mind. It is shul for the intellect. A mosque celebrating mankind. It reminds us how beautiful life can be and how fragile it is as well. It helps us form opinions and gain insight into the lives of our fellow humans.”

In 2020, during the early stages of the pandemic, you endured a severe bout of COVID-19 that left you hospitalized and sick for weeks. As you were recovering from COVID, you were also caring for your ailing wife and fellow Broadway actress, Rebecca Luker, as she suffered through a 13-month long battle with ALS. She passed away a few months later in December 2020. The perseverance and strength you showed through your struggles was an inspiration to many during a very difficult time in our city and our nation.

In recognition of meeting the highest standards of education and craft, for the empathy and insight you bring to the human condition, and for your example as a citizen, you are thereby awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts, honoris causa.

Arturo Casadevall '79

Doctor of Science, Honoris Causa

HARDWORKING, BRILLIANT, AND SELFLESS, you are an internationally recognized scientist, physician, teacher, scholar, editor, and humanist. You have achieved groundbreaking research in the fields of microbiology and immunology and served as a mentor to those from underrepresented communities.

You are the son of Cuban emigres and came to Queens at the age of 11. Later, you enrolled in Queens College and majored in chemistry with the goal of becoming a scientist. You earned your degree from QC in 1979. However, your father urged you to attend medical school, and with the help of the Salk Scholarship, you entered the MD/PhD program at New York University. You graduated with a PhD in biochemistry in 1984 and an MD in 1985.

You served as director of the storied Division of Infectious Diseases at Montefiore Medical Center and were the Selma and Jacques Mitroni Professor in Biomedical Research, the chair of the Department of Microbiology and Immunology, and the Leo and Julia Forchheimer Professor of Microbiology and Immunology.

Currently, you hold appointments as the Alfred and Jill Sommer Professor and chair of the W. Harry Feinstone

Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and professor of medicine in the Department of Infectious Diseases at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. In recognition of your accomplishments as an interdisciplinary researcher and excellence in teaching, you were named a Bloomberg Distinguished Professor at Johns Hopkins University.

You are a world-class researcher who has published more than 746 papers and 33 book chapters in immunology, microbiology, genetics, molecular biology, biochemistry, and medicine. You’re the recipient of such prestigious awards as the American Society for Microbiology Founders Distinguished Service Award, the National Institutes of Health Merit Award, and the Rhoda Benham Award from the Medical Mycology Society of America. You are a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Academy of Microbiology, and you were elected to the National Academy of Medicine and American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Your achievements in the lab are only a part of your contributions to science. You were a member of the National Science Advisory Board for Biosecurity from 2005 to 2014 and then a commissioner for the National Forensic Commission of the United States Department of Justice. You are also well known for taking a serious interest in the ethics of scientific practice and education, including expanding ideas of what makes good, valuable science. You are a strong voice for promoting women and underrepresented minorities in science, and your mentoring of scientists from underrepresented groups was recognized with the William Hinton Award of the American Society of Microbiology.

In recognition of your distinguished career, your groundbreaking scientific research, your excellent teaching and generous mentoring, and dedication to promoting women and underrepresented minorities in science, you are hereby awarded the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa.

About Commencement

Today’s ceremonies are rooted in centuries-old traditions. Commencement—from the Old French word commencement, which means “beginning”—was the name of the ceremony at which university graduates (then called “masters”) were initiated into the teaching profession in medieval Europe. A commencement ceremony acknowledges the success of an institution as well as its students.

The first Queens College commencement ceremony—honoring the 198-member graduating class—took place on Monday, June 16, 1941. Students, their families, and friends had decorated the Quadrangle with flowers brought from their homes. The procession of dignitaries, which included President Paul Klapper, Dean of Faculty Margaret Kiely, Judge Charles Colden, and commencement speaker Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, was soaked by a sudden downpour.

This is Queens College’s ninety-eighth commencement. When the college first opened, commencement was held twice a year. Now, although degrees are also awarded in September and February, formal graduation exercises are held in late May or early June. Recipients of degrees awarded during the year are invited to participate in the formal commencement ceremonies.

Marshals are members of the faculty and staff who have volunteered to assist at commencement. They wear academic gowns, carry wooden batons, and perform various organizational assignments, such as assembling and leading the candidates in procession.

The academic procession is a tradition stemming from early universities. Centuries ago, such processions were arranged by the clergy and followed the familiar order of religious processions, with the place of honor at the end. In today’s ceremony, the president, chief marshal, and members of the platform party—including provost, department chairs, board of trustee members and representatives from CUNY, the deans who represent the candidates, college officials, the honorary degree recipients, the commencement speaker, student representatives, and various public dignitaries—will march down the middle aisle, followed by the faculty. Also, four columns of graduates will march in simultaneously, with master’s degree candidates at the head of each column. Banners will identify each division. Special guests for today’s ceremony will be members of the 50th anniversary Class of 1972, the 60th anniversary Class of 1962, the 70th anniversary Class of 1952, the 75th anniversary Class of 1947, and 80th anniversary Class of 1942.

The chief marshal, traditionally a senior faculty member who has provided long and faithful service to the college, leads the platform party and serves as mace bearer. Though now purely ceremonial, the tradition of the mace bearer dates back to medieval England when an official taking office or opening court needed a bodyguard. In those times, the mace was a formidable weapon, held ready to protect the official. The chief marshal carries the Queens College mace, which has historic significance. Made of dark cherry wood, the mace is adorned with red granite and sterling silver and embedded with a bronze medal showing the original college seal; the seal bears the college’s motto, Discimus ut Serviamus, Latin for “We learn so that we may serve.” The medal was originally presented to the first registrar of the college, Howard Knag, who donated it for the mace. The chief marshal wears a chain of office that includes sterling silver links inscribed with the names and years of past chief marshals. The chain and current mace were a gift from Professor Emeritus John B. Haney, himself a former chief marshal. President Frank H. Wu will also wear a chain of office listing past presidents of the college and their tenures. Donated by past chief marshals, it was provided thanks to a collaboration between former chief marshal Jared Rifkin and Joseph Brostek ’55, long-time director of commencement.

The gowns worn by the graduates represent a dignified and truly democratic custom. At the moment when the degrees are conferred, all the gowned graduates are made equal. Until well into the nineteenth century, it was customary for many American students to wear gowns while in daily residence at college or at meals. Now, with the exception of some British and European schools, few colleges request that students wear these gowns except at graduation exercises.

Caps, called mortarboards—with a tassel hanging on the right side—are worn by degree candidates. As the college President confers the degrees, the candidates symbolically move the tassels to the left side of their mortarboard. Graduates may wear different color cords to represent honor societies and special programs.

While academic costumes have been used in this country since colonial times, there was no uniformity until the late 1890s. Today, the gowns of most universities are black. The hoods worn by the faculty indicate their degrees. The silk lining of the hood gives the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. Traditionally, the shortest hood is the bachelor’s, the longest and broadest is the doctor’s, and the master’s and specialist’s are midway between (although Queens College bachelor’s degree candidates do not wear hoods, some may wear red satin stoles). The color of the velvet binding or edging designates academic disciplines. Among the more frequently seen colors are:

Drab	Accounting
White	Arts & Letters
Light Brown	Business Admin.

Copper	Economics
Light Blue	Education
Orange	Engineering

A degree is awarded for successful completion of a program of study. The first known academic degree, the doctorate (from the Latin word docere, to teach), was granted by the University of Bologna in the mid-twelfth century.

At today’s ceremonies, those who will be hooded represent all students in their respective degree categories.

School and departmental ceremonies and receptions that are being held today will take place approximately thirty minutes after the college-wide ceremony. For locations, please consult the map on pages 50-51. Programs identifying school and departmental award winners may be distributed at these ceremonies. Please note that some departments have already held their ceremonies and receptions prior to Commencement Day.
