QUEENS COLLEGE

A MESSAGE FROM
President Frank H. Wu

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL THE OUTSTANDING STUDENTS BEING RECOGNIZED TONIGHT.

I have worked at many colleges and universities during my career, and this is always my favorite time of the year, no matter where I have been. It gives me great pleasure to see your excellent accomplishments acknowledged tonight here at our beautiful Colden Auditorium, whether it's with Latin honors, departmental prizes, or significant awards from Queens College and The City University of New York.

Each of you represents the very best of our institution. Your unwavering dedication, hard work, and commitment to excellence have truly set you apart. This is especially true of this graduating class, as many of you were just first-year students when your studies were disrupted by the COVID-19 pandemic. You persevered through those unprecedented challenges and emerged stronger than ever. The honors you receive tonight attest to your academic prowess and your ability to rise to the challenge of higher education.

This accomplishment is just the beginning of your journey toward achieving your dreams. As you embark on new challenges, continue to embrace your passion, curiosity, and drive. Let these values guide you as you navigate your future endeavors.

I wish you the best in the next stage of your life, whether you move on to an internship, job, or graduate or professional school. I have no doubt that you will continue to achieve great success and make meaningful contributions to our society. I urge you to always remember the motto of Queens College: "We learn so that we may serve."

On behalf of the faculty and staff at Queens College, please accept my warmest congratulations again on your superb achievements. You have made us all proud, and we look forward to seeing all that you will accomplish in the future.

QUEENS COLLEGE PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

Noel Hankin '68

IN A LIFETIME COMMITTED TO RACIAL JUSTICE, you have championed African American culture and opportunity. In doing so, you have brought an imaginative and generous spirit to creating new outlets and improving those that exist already.

Born in Kingston, Jamaica, you completed your BA in sociology at Queens College in 1968, when the student community was deeply influenced by the civil rights movement. As an undergraduate you attended the campus talk famously given by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., following the murder of Queens College student and voting-rights activist Andrew Goodman—an experience you shared in the college's 2022 documentary of that history.

As a tastemaker, from a young age, your influence began when you and your college friends formed a social group called The Best of Friends, which opened five black-owned, now legendary clubs in midtown Manhattan, Brooklyn, and Queens, thereby building a multimillion-dollar business. The clubs, which featured multicultural urban musical sensibilities and lively dance floors, catered to a racially and ethnically diverse clientele. Their enormous success and signature style—especially at the internationally famous flagship, Leviticus—helped fuel the popularity of disco in the 1970s, paving the way for Studio 54, Saturday Night Fever, and the nationwide explosion of disco. In 2021, you authored After Dark: Birth of the Disco Dance Party, which reflects on the larger picture of middle-class African Americans' role in driving cultural trends.

In advertising, you enjoyed similar success over a forty-year career. As vice president and account supervisor at Ogilvy & Mather, you simultaneously managed some of the world's most successful brands and earned a marketing certificate at the Wharton School. You then accepted a position as director of corporate relations at Miller Brewing Company, where you developed relationships in African American, Hispanic, and Asian American markets. Finally you became senior vice president of multicultural relations at Moët Hennessy USA, a company with an unusually inclusive approach to diverse markets and a record of funding civil rights institutions. Interviewed in the 2015 documentary An Unexpected History: The Story of Hennessy and African-Americans, you discussed the challenges for people of color in being included in corporate America.

As a change agent, you built on your own success to open the door for others. At Miller, you co-created and served as vice chair of the National Black Scholarship Fund (now the Thurgood Marshall College Fund). Since 1987 it has raised more than $300 million and helped 260,000 students at historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) and predominantly black institutions. You also served as an advisor on HBCUs to President Bill Clinton for seven years. More recently you were a trustee of the City University of New York Construction Fund. A former chair of the New York Urban League, you are a lifetime member of the NAACP. For your service and accomplishments, you were awarded an honorary doctorate of humane letters by Medgar Evers College.

In recognition of your services to humanity through your many achievements in the arts, culture, business, philanthropy, and education, and in acknowledgment of your use of your education for the common good, we are proud to present you with the Queens College President's Medal.
