QUEENS COLLEGE

A MESSAGE FROM
President Frank H. Wu

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 2023!
You did it! Your achievement is truly remarkable. You have earned a degree or certificate from Queens College! You and your family should be very proud.

All of you worked diligently to get here today. You spent countless hours studying for exams, researching papers, hustling at internships, and enduring difficult daily commutes to get to this point. You also persevered through some challenging times during the early years of your studies as the world dealt with the Covid-19 pandemic. Thankfully, we have been able to come together once again, and you will depart from Queens College with the benefits of a wonderful college experience.

But you haven't done it alone. As you celebrate your achievements today, be sure to thank the ones who supported you on your journey, whether it be a family member, friend, professor, or staff member. It takes a village, as the expression goes, and all those who helped you share in your joy today.

Today marks the end of one chapter of your life and the beginning of another. You now join the ranks of the esteemed Queens College alumni who have come before you, a group of more than 181,000 strong. As you head into the next chapter of your life with optimism, you should be confident that Queens College has prepared you for the world. Whether you choose to further your studies or go onto the career of your choice, you are armed with a world-class liberal arts education that will serve you well in all aspects of life.

No matter what path you choose, I encourage you to keep learning and growing. Life is a never-ending process of adapting, and I hope that you use your time here as a foundation to continue to build upon. As you leave Queens College, I urge you to think critically and challenge what is familiar to you. Ask questions, think outside the box, and explore new and exciting ideas. The world is ever-changing, and it is up to you to seize the opportunity to shape it for the better. And please always remember the motto of Queens College: "We learn so that we may serve."

I am exceptionally proud of each and every one of you. I wish you well in your future endeavors, and I hope to see you back at Queens College soon, whether it's to continue your studies or at an alumni event or homecoming. Thank you, and warmest congratulations once again to the Class of 2023!

CLOSING OF CEREMONY

RECESSIONAL

Henry Purcell, “Trumpet Tune,” and Jeremiah Clarke, “Trumpet Voluntary”

Today’s Commencement is being livestreamed, enabling families and friends around the world to witness the entire ceremony.
Queens College students come from more than 145 countries, making it one of the nation’s most diverse colleges.

Graduates and guests are requested to remain seated until members of the platform party and the faculty have left the ceremonial area.
Scheduled departmental ceremonies will begin 30 minutes after the conclusion of the college-wide ceremony (see map on pages 52–53).

Jon Favreau

Doctor of Fine Arts, Honoris Causa

A NEW YORKER WHO BECAME A HOLLYWOOD ICON, you have created a body of work that has given pleasure to millions of people around the world. As an actor, writer, director, and producer, your filmography resonates with audiences who love your imagination, heart, and wit.

A native of Flushing, you had a middle-class, multiethnic upbringing, with schoolteachers as parents. You won a highly coveted seat in the Bronx High School of Science, then came to Queens College. You then took a chance on a risky move to Chicago, where you immersed yourself in the hard school of improvisational theatre.

With breakthrough acting roles on Seinfeld and Friends, you became a familiar face on screen, and since 1992 you have worked steadily as an actor. Your performances range from comedy and romantic comedy to drama and action adventures, and they span television, indie films, blockbusters, and voice acting for animation. Even now, as a top industry executive, you continue to perform in lead and supporting roles.

Beginning with your autobiographical indie comedy Swingers in 1996, you stepped behind the camera. Today you are a celebrated writer, director, producer, and executive producer whose work consists of films beloved around the world, including Elf, Zathura,

Iron Man and Iron Man 2, Cowboys and Aliens, Chef, The Jungle Book, and The Lion King. You exercise tremendous influence on the industry, notably through the innovative Marvel Cinematic Universe. Most recently, you and your own television production company Golem Creations have continued to break new ground. Among your projects, you have been writer and creator, sometime director, and executive producer of the critically acclaimed series The Mandalorian and its spinoff series, The Book of Boba Fett. As the late Stan Lee said, “Jon Favreau is so multitabled. He acts, he writes, he directs, and he makes everything he does seem easy.”

Your work has received many awards and nominations. Among them are the Saturn and Visionary Awards from the Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy, and Horror Films; the Filmmaker Award of the Cinema Audio Society; and the Dragon Award. In 2019, you were inducted into the prestigious Disney Legends. This year, your star was added to the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

Across a wide variety of subjects and genres, your work has retained your signature—great storytelling; fast-paced wit, action, and comedic timing; classic heroes with everyman and archetypal qualities; and imaginative use of technology to enrich, but never overwhelm, the visual language of film. As stated by the chair of the Visual Effects Society, upon giving you its 2019 Lifetime Achievement Award, “Jon Favreau ... has created exceptionally humanistic stories through his vision, unique approach to storytelling and full embrace of emerging technology to enhance the moviegoing experience.”

Your success is based on following your own vision, for which you are an inspiration to our students and many others. You inject meaningful values, groundbreaking innovations, and always quick-witted, thoughtful storytelling into our shared culture. In recognition of your artistic achievements and contributions, we are proud to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts, honoris causa.

Judith Heumann

Queens College President’s Medal

AS A LEADER, she was recognized throughout the world as a powerful voice, activist, and inspiration in the struggle for disability rights. Her influence was so formative that she was often described as “the mother of the disability rights movement.”

Profoundly shaped by family, she was the daughter of German Jews sent to this country as children in the 1930s to escape the Nazi regime. Born in Philadelphia, she grew up in Brooklyn, where her father Werner had a butcher shop and her mother Ilse volunteered with civic groups. At the age of 18 months, she contracted polio during the 1949 epidemic and spent three months in an iron lung, requiring a wheelchair for most of the rest of her life. That resulted in being denied admission to kindergarten, followed by years of her mother’s increasingly successful advocacy for accommodation in public school. She subsequently went on to earn a BA in speech and theatre at Long Island University in 1969, where she organized protests demanding ramps for wheelchair access and the right of people with disabilities to live in dorms. In 1975 she earned a master’s in public health at the University of California at Berkeley.

A pathbreaker, she gained public prominence when she brought a civil rights suit in 1970 to obtain a teaching license in New York. In Heumann v. Board of Education of the City of New York, she challenged systemic discrimination: she had passed all the teaching tests except the physical, but people in wheelchairs were not then allowed to teach in public schools. Hers was the first such suit brought in federal court; meant as a test case for rights of disabled people, it proved successful and she became the first wheelchair user to teach in New York City schools.

Her legislative achievements have changed the lives of millions. As a legislative assistant in the U.S. Senate, she helped develop the Education for All Handicapped Children Act, which became the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. She also served as a leader of a grass-roots protest that compelled California’s acceptance of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, prohibiting discrimination against people with disabilities by any institution receiving federal money. That victory paved the way for the landmark Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Internationally, she shaped the U.N. Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

As a respected advocate, she founded, led, and supported the work of organizations for disability and human rights, both nationally and internationally. Those included Disabled in Action, the groundbreaking Center for Independent Living, and the World Institute on Disability. She received government, nongovernmental, and other appointments, including as the Clinton administration’s assistant secretary of the Office of Special Education and Rehabilitation Services at the U.S. Department of Education; the World Bank Group’s first advisor on disability and development; special advisor to the U.S. State Department on international disability rights; and senior fellow at the Ford Foundation. Her work advanced disability rights, and the independent living movement, within international development policy.

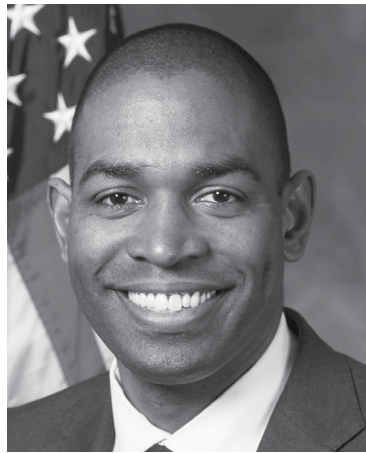

A talented writer and speaker, she submitted extensive public testimony on disability and human rights. Her memoir, Being Heumann: An Unrepentant Memoir of a Disability Rights Activist, also came out in a young adult version, Rolling Warrior, and is scheduled for adaptation by Apple TV+. She has been featured in documentaries such as Camp Crip: A Disability Revolution and Lives worth Living.

International recognition of her work numbers seven honorary doctorates and a long list of awards. Those include the first Henry B. Betts Award and the Max Starkloff Lifetime Achievement Award of the National Council on Independent Living.

In appreciation for her principled and tireless service to humanity, we present Judith Heumann posthumously with the Queens College President’s Medal.

Antonio Delgado

Queens College President's Medal

KNOWN AS A RESPECTED CIVIC LEADER, your gifts and sense of purpose have been apparent throughout your life. You have distinguished yourself in scholarship, athletics, music, law, and public service, and you have used your record of personal achievement to help others.

As a scholar, you excelled from an early age. You attended Notre Dame–Bishop Gibbons High School in your native Schenectady, then earned your BA in philosophy and political science at Colgate University with high honors. You were awarded a prestigious Rhodes Scholarship (and were the first person from your high school to win this distinction). You completed your MA in philosophy, politics, and economics at Queen's College, University of Oxford, then your JD at Harvard Law School.

Having many talents, you pursued your passions and earned honors along the way. In high school, you were a standout star on the basketball team, then played in college for the Colgate Raiders and for a semi-pro league in Puerto Rico. In 2018 you were inducted into the Upstate Basketball Hall of Fame. You also are musically talented. After completing your law degree, you worked in the music industry—founding an independent record label, Statik Music, and releasing your own album of conscious rap titled Painfully Free. You then joined the New York office of Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP, working in complex commercial litigation at one of the nation's top law firms while working pro bono for criminal justice reform.

Your entry to public life was marked by more firsts. In 2018, you became the first person of color elected to the U.S. Congress from upstate New York, representing New York's largely suburban and rural 19th Congressional District. In 2022, you were appointed, then elected as lieutenant governor of New York, becoming the first person of Latino descent to hold statewide office.

An effective legislator, you emphasized helping your constituencies, including underserved communities, family farms, and small businesses. You served on the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure and the Committee on Small Business, and were chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Commodity Exchanges, Energy, and Credit. Eighteen of your bills were signed into law under two different presidents, including the Family Farmer Relief Act, the Strengthening Financial Aid for Students Act, and the Improving Benefits for Underserved Veterans Act. When the pandemic hit, you secured federal support for frontline and essential workers and small businesses. Your Direct Support for Communities Act delivered $130.2 billion in aid for economic recovery directly to local communities, including $10.8 billion to New York counties, cities, towns, and villages.

Your public service has been shaped by your parents' ethic of hard work and commitment to community. They worked for General Electric in Schenectady, and provided an exemplary middle-class upbringing. Your parents had African American and Cape Verdean backgrounds, with ties to Mexico, Colombia, and Venezuela—a heritage that you credit with helping you relate to diverse constituencies while working cooperatively across the aisle. Your bipartisanship has been recognized by several organizations; the Common Ground Committee named you the fourth most bipartisan member of Congress and first among Democrats. Twice you received the Jefferson-Hamilton Award for Bipartisanship from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

In recognition of your many achievements and spirit of dedicated public service, we are proud to present you with the Queens College President's Medal.

About Commencement

Today’s ceremonies are rooted in centuries-old traditions. Commencement—from the Old French word commencement, which means “beginning”—was the name of the ceremony at which university graduates (then called “masters”) were initiated into the teaching profession in medieval Europe. A commencement ceremony acknowledges the success of an institution as well as its students.

The first Queens College commencement ceremony—honoring the 198-member graduating class—took place on Monday, June 16, 1941. Students, their families, and friends had decorated the Quadrangle with flowers brought from their homes. The procession of dignitaries, which included President Paul Klapper, Dean of Faculty Margaret Kiely, Judge Charles Colden, and commencement speaker Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, was soaked by a sudden downpour.

This is Queens College’s ninety-ninth commencement. When the college first opened, commencement was held twice a year. Now, although degrees are also awarded in September and February, formal graduation exercises are held in late May or early June. Recipients of degrees awarded during the year are invited to participate in the formal commencement ceremonies.

Marshals are members of the faculty and staff who have volunteered to assist at commencement. They wear academic gowns, carry wooden batons, and perform various organizational assignments, such as assembling and leading the candidates in procession.

The academic procession is a tradition stemming from early universities. Centuries ago, such processions were arranged by the clergy and followed the familiar order of religious processions, with the place of honor at the end. In today’s ceremony, the president, chief marshal, and members of the platform party—including provost, department chairs, board of trustee members and representatives from CUNY, the deans who represent the candidates, college officials, the honorary degree recipients, the commencement speaker, student representatives, and various public dignitaries—will march down the middle aisle, followed by the faculty. Also, four columns of graduates will march in simultaneously, with master’s degree candidates at the head of each column. Banners will identify each division. Special guests for today’s ceremony will be members of the 50th anniversary Class of 1973, 60th anniversary Class of 1963, and the 70th anniversary Class of 1953.

The chief marshal, traditionally a senior faculty member who has provided long and faithful service to the college, leads the platform party and serves as mace bearer. Though now purely ceremonial, the tradition of the mace bearer dates back to medieval England when an official taking office or opening court needed a bodyguard. In those times, the mace was a formidable weapon, held ready to protect the official. The chief marshal carries the Queens College mace, which has historic significance. Made of dark cherry wood, the mace is adorned with red granite and sterling silver and embedded with a bronze medal showing the original college seal; the seal bears the college’s motto, Discimus ut Serviamus, Latin for “We learn so that we may serve.” The medal was originally presented to the first registrar of the college, Howard Knag, who donated it for the mace. The chief marshal wears a chain of office that includes sterling silver links inscribed with the names and years of past chief marshals. The chain and current mace were a gift from Professor Emeritus John B. Haney, himself a former chief marshal. President Frank H. Wu will also wear a chain of office listing past presidents of the college and their tenures. Donated by past chief marshals, it was provided thanks to a collaboration between former chief marshal Jared Rifkin and Joseph Brostek ’55, long-time director of commencement.

The gowns worn by the graduates represent a dignified and truly democratic custom. At the moment when the degrees are conferred, all the gowned graduates are made equal. Until well into the nineteenth century, it was customary for many American students to wear gowns while in daily residence at college or at meals. Now, with the exception of some British and European schools, few colleges request that students wear these gowns except at graduation exercises.

Caps, called mortarboards—with a tassel hanging on the right side—are worn by degree candidates. As the college president confers the degrees, the candidates symbolically move the tassels to the left side of their mortarboard. Graduates may wear different color cords to represent honor societies and special programs.

While academic costumes have been used in this country since colonial times, there was no uniformity until the late 1890s. Today, the gowns of most universities are black. The hoods worn by the faculty indicate their degrees. The silk lining of the hood gives the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. Traditionally, the shortest hood is the bachelor’s, the longest and broadest is the doctor’s, and the master’s and specialist’s are midway between (although Queens College bachelor’s degree candidates do not wear hoods, some may wear red satin stoles). The color of the velvet binding or edging designates academic disciplines. Among the more frequently seen colors are:

	Drab	Accounting
	White	Arts & Letters
	Light Brown	Business Admin.
	Gold	Computer Science
	Copper	Economics
	Light Blue	Education
	Orange	Engineering
	Brown	Fine Arts
	Cardinal Red	Journalism
	Purple	Law
	Lemon Yellow	Library Science
	Green	Medicine
	Pink	Music
	Light Blue	Pedagogy
	Dark Blue	Philosophy
	Gold	Political Science
	Sage Green	Physical Education
	Light Blue	School Psychology
	Golden Yellow	Science
	White	Sociology
	Light Blue	Special Education
	Silver Gray	Speech
	White	TESOL
	White	Urban Studies

A degree is awarded for successful completion of a program of study. The first known academic degree, the doctorate (from the Latin word docere, to teach), was granted by the University of Bologna in the mid-twelfth century.

At today’s ceremonies, those who will be hooded represent all students in their respective degree categories.

School and departmental ceremonies and receptions that are being held today will take place approximately thirty minutes after the college-wide ceremony. For locations, please consult the map on pages 52-53. Programs identifying school and departmental award winners may be distributed at these ceremonies. Please note that some departments have already held their ceremonies and receptions prior to Commencement Day.
