

Pedagogies of Writing Workshop

Guiding students to write with, without, and against Generative AI

Join us to learn about how to revise your writing assignments in the age of generative AI.

Whether you want students to write with, without or against this new technology, we'll focus on how course and assignment goals can help us start to respond to genAI. We'll talk about some data from Queens College students and faculty about generative AI use, but the focus of the event will be hands-on time to revise assignments, problem-solve, and discuss with one another.

All participants should bring an assignment to the workshop.

Facilitated by Amy Wan (Special Assistant to the Provost on Writing and Professor of English)

Monday, February 23, 2026 | 12:15 p.m. - 1:30 p.m.

President's Conference Room #2 (RO 525 / Library)
