

QUEENS COLLEGE AT A GLANCE

Discimus ut serviamus: We learn so that we may serve.

CUNY

Queens College has high standards of academic excellence; values diversity, affordability, and opportunity; and is dedicated to the very best liberal arts and science education.

QUEENS COLLEGE—a senior college of The City University of New York—is a place that builds futures, annually serving over 16,500 students; 85 percent are undergraduates. Since its founding in 1937, QC has enjoyed a national reputation for its academic excellence, world-class faculty, and affordability.

WHY QUEENS COLLEGE?

- “QC in 4,” the only program of its kind in New York City, gives undergraduates the tools, resources, and support they need to finish a bachelor’s degree in four years.
- More online courses than ever before.
- More computer science majors than any other CUNY college.
- One of only two CUNY schools that participate in Division II athletics, with a total of 16 men’s and women’s teams.
- Home of the internationally renowned Aaron Copland School of Music; QC’s students, faculty, alumni, and staff have received over 100 Grammy awards and nominations.
- Library’s Civil Rights Archive preserves papers and other materials of notable activists, including James Forman.
- Immigrant Student Support Initiative assists immigrant students, including those who are undocumented.
- Adult Collegiate Education, an accelerated bachelor’s degree program for high school graduates age 25 and over, awards up to 36 tuition-free credits for personal or professional experience.
