William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program

The federal government-not a bank or other lending institution-is your lender and makes the loan directly to you or your parents through the school. The school determines your eligibility, calculates the loan amount, and disburses the money. Once the loan is made, it is managed and collected by the U.S. Department of Education. Your direct loan is money that is borrowed and must be repaid after you leave school.

After you apply and receive your Direct Loan, you will be contacted by your loan servicer (you repay your loan to the loan servicer). Your loan servicer will provide regular updates on the status of your Direct Loan, and any additional Direct Loans that you receive.

Three separate programs provide federally insured, low-interest, long-term loans to you or your parents to help you cover the costs of attending college: Subsidized, Unsubsidized, and Parent PLUS loans.
